DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-43 are pending.

2. Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1. In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 1-9 and 28-36 drawn to a method of treating allergy.

Group II, claim(s) 10-23, 28-36 and 42 drawn to a method of treating infection.

Group III, claim(s) 24-36 and 43 drawn to a method of treating cancer.

Group IV, claim(s) 37-41 drawn to a chitin composition and delivery device.

The inventions listed as Groups I-IV do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons:

The inventions of Groups I-IV were found to have no special technical features that defined the contribution over the prior art of Shibata et al. (IDS reference AQ filed on 2/13/04) and WO 97/20576 (IDS reference AL)

Shibata et al. (J. Immunology 164:1314-1321, 2000) teaches the chitin composition down regulates serum IgE in allergic mouse (abstract, p. 1315, result, p. 1319, discussion).

The '576 publication teaches more effective amount of adjuvant activity of chitosan (i.e. derivative of chitin) is achieved by the nasal administration (p. 3, lines 4-20).

Since Applicants' inventions do not contribute a special technical feature when viewed over the prior art, or meet key critical elements, they do not have a single general inventive concept and so lack unity of invention of claims 1-9 and 28-36.

3. This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

- i) Applicant is required to elect a specific allergen (i.e. food, respiratory or environmental from claims 2-6) of Group I.
- ii) Applicant is further required to elect a specific pathogen (i.e. bacteria, virus, fungus, or parasite) of Group II.

4. Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Currently, claims 1 and 28-36 are generic for Group I and claims 10 and 28-36 are generic for Group II.

5. The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: These species are distinct because they differ in structure and physicochemical properties.

6. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
